Behind the Scenes

You will find striking results due to the consortial research of the member enterprises in the Smart Logistics Cluster on RWTH Aachen Campus.

A significant part of the development of the streetscooter, the electric car the Deutsche Post / DHL uses for supplying its customers, has taken place here. Plus, the e.GO Life, the first complete electric car that can be bought at a moderate price originates from our cluster. However, electromobility is only a small part of our portfolio.

Currently we are designing the future together with our partners in the future logistics and smart commercial building mega projects.

Curious? We are happy to give you an insight into our activities and premises.
